Before HIGGINBOTHAM, OWEN, and SOUTHWICK, Circuit Judges.

PER CURIAM:*

No. 11-31196

Before the court is Washington's motion for leave to proceed in forma pauperis (IFP) on appeal from the district court's dismissal of his suit as frivolous pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e). He alternatively moves for an extension of time to pay the appellate filing fee. By moving for leave to proceed IFP, Washington is challenging the district court's certification that this appeal was not taken in good faith. See Baugh v. Taylor, 117 F.3d 197, 202 (5th Cir. 1997).

Washington asserts in conclusory fashion that the district court engaged in misconduct and obstruction of justice in dismissing his case and that his allegations succeeded in stating claims upon which relief may be granted. Although pro se filings are liberally construed, pro se litigants still must adequately brief their arguments and are not permitted to make baseless attacks against the judiciary. See Yohey v. Collins, 985 F.2d 222, 225 (5th Cir. 1993); Therriault v. Silber, 579 F.2d 302, 303 (5th Cir. 1978). Washington's assertions that his claims were not frivolous and that the district court engaged in judicial misconduct are conclusory and insufficient to demonstrate that a nonfrivolous issue exists for appeal. Washington's pro se complaint was required to "set forth facts giving rise to a claim on which relief may be granted," and he has not shown that it did so. Johnson v. Atkins, 999 F.2d 99, 100 (5th Cir. 1993).

Because Washington has not shown that the district court's certification was incorrect, his motion for leave to proceed IFP is denied. See Howard v. King, 707 F.2d 215, 219-20 (5th Cir. 1983). The instant appeal is without arguable merit and is dismissed as frivolous. See Baugh, 117 F.3d at 202 n.24; Howard, 707 F.2d at 219-20; 5TH CIR. R. 42.2. Washington's alternative motion for an extension of time to pay the appellate filing fee is denied.

Washington is cautioned that frivolous, repetitive, or otherwise abusive filings will invite the imposition of sanctions, including dismissal, monetary sanctions, and restrictions on his ability to file pleadings in this court and any other court subject to this court's jurisdiction. Washington is further cautioned that, in order to avoid the imposition of sanctions, he should review any pending appeals and actions and move to dismiss any that are frivolous.

MOTIONS DENIED; APPEAL DISMISSED; SANCTION WARNING ISSUED.
